BY THE GOVERNOR.

A PROCLAMATION.

The Thirtieth Day of May in each year has been made a legal holiday in Wisconsin, not alone as a public and official recognition of the patriotic services of the soldiers and sailors whose fidelity and valor rescued our nation from impending dissolution, but also to remove all semblance of justification for omitting to conform to the custom which has hallowed and set apart day for decorating the graves of deceased soldiers:

Therefore, I, William E. Smith, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, command to all the people of the State, that they do this year observe this day in a befitting manner. Wherever it is practicable, let the strewing of flowers be supplemented with parades and music and orations, and if in any place public ceremonies are not held, let some patriotic and public-spirited man, woman or child see to it that no soldier's grave is without a tribute of spring flowers.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed [Great Seal] ed. Done at the Capitol, in the city of Madison, this fifth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

WILLIAM E. SMITH.

By the Governor:
HANS B. WARNER, Secretary of State.

During a thunder storm at Norcross, in Minnesota, last Friday night, lightning struck the barn of Cross & Greswold, and killed twenty-three horses. The barns were all burned.

The following from the Milwaukee Sunday Telegraph will be appreciated by the readers of the Gazette: "Colonel James G. Knight, of the Darlington Democrat, expresses a profound opinion in regard to Dr. J. H. Warren's connection with the 'star route' speculators which will be readily accepted by those who have known Dr. Warren longest, and who are disposed to take a friendly and charitable view of the rumors in which he is implicated. Colonel Knight suggests that he was not guilty of any wrong in the 'star route' business himself, but received decided benefit from 'sitting next to it.' The explanation will be regarded as satisfactory."

True to its Bourbon instincts, the Madison Democrat has no faith in the judgment of the people. In speaking of the confirmation of Stanley Matthews and charging him with being an attorney for a railway monopoly, it says: "Yes, and that is just why he was confirmed. Matthews knew how well the people stand by a man who champions their interests. Judge Thurman championed their side of the same question and the people relegated him to private life for it, and the people never fail to do just that intelligent thing." Judge Thurman was not relegated to private life because he championed the people's interest in the Pacific railway controversy, but because he was an enemy to sound money, and false to the trust the people placed in him.

Robertson will defeat the Republican party in New York. In other words, the Conkling journals predict that if the New York Senator is not allowed to have his own way the Republican party will go to pieces. The Republican party is not so easily killed as that, neither has Mr. Conkling the unlimited influence which some of his friends ascribe to him. He is a man of power but it so happens that he does not carry the State of New York in his pocket. When Mr. Conkling had his own way the party did not seem to be any stronger in the Empire State than it was when he was curbed somewhat. It is a truth that John Kelly has done more for the Republican party in New York city during the past few years than Conkling. If the Conkling journals and Mr. Conkling himself, have the interest of the party at heart, they will see that no votes are lost in that State simply because Senator is not allowed to control the patronage of the State of New York.

Colonel Ingerson has been the means of resurrecting some of the old Blue laws, and there is no telling what punishment there is in store for the great champion of infidelity. The Colonel has been lecturing in Washington on the great infidels, much to the annoyance of those who believe in strictly observing the Sabbath. The question of preventing him from lecturing on such a subject on Sunday was submitted to a law officer, and after an investigation it was found that there was no modern Sunday law in that city. The statutes of the Maryland colonies prevail, in which it is found that the penalty for violating the Sabbath is a hundred pounds of tobacco. There is also an old law still in force, adopted away back in colonial times, providing a severe penalty for blasphemy or denying the Trinity. Mr. Ingerson, of course, denies the Trinity, and openly resorts to what is generally understood as blasphemy. The penalty for denying the Trinity under the law which the district attorney declares is still in force, is to have the tongue bored and fined $20 or $100, and in case the fine can not be paid, the offender is to be imprisoned six months. This is the penalty for the first offense, and should the person commit the second offense, the letter "B" should be burned in his forehead. But Bob Ingerson cares little for the Blue laws or the penalties proscribed by the statutes of the old colonies. His silver tongue is still denouncing the Trinity, and blasphemy continues to rest upon his lips. The more they talk of putting an end to Bob's fight against modern religion, the more severe he is, and the stronger he is prepared for war.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

From our Regular Correspondent.

CHICAGO, May 14—There has never been a time in the history of Chicago, when all kinds of food and drink were adulterated, like they are at the present time. The milk distributed in the city at this day and date is simply poisonous and utterly unfit for use. "Fresh milk" is the cry of the milkman. It is nothing but adulterated swill, not fit for hogs. The poorest skim-milk a farmer ever made is rich in comparison. A gentleman with whom I conversed lately, and who worked for a prominent and wealthy milk dealer, informed me in confidence, that his usual custom had been, without any exaggeration, to skim enough cream off to pay for the whole, and then water and sell the balance for as much as the whole can cost. Generally, the milk that arrives in the city is absolutely pure, but the moment it is unloaded from the cars the hordes of demoralized rascals and thieves—who live off the sickness of innocent children and adults—doctor and adulterate it to an extent beyond conception. In Chicago especially, milk ought to be pure and rich, cheap, and used abundantly.

A poor laborer by the name of Johnstone, an Englishman by birth, has just fallen heir to a fortune of $30,000, by the sudden decease of a wealthy brother-in-law in Liverpool. Mr. Johnstone was a huckster for a number of years in Chicago, but of late was employed in a steam pipe factory. He had no education nor ambition further than daily food and raiment, but now with a wife and four children, he has just started for England to secure his wealth, and will return to Chicago to enjoy life amongst our aristocracy, of which himself and family will be counted and acknowledged members in future.

Chicago will make a splendid summer resort in the near bye and bye, with the thermometer last Thursday 85 degrees in the shade, and a genuine case of sunstroke a few days ago. L. MOUNT.

THE SWITCHMEN.

CHICAGO, May 16—The switchmen held a meeting last night in De Koven hall. There does not appear to be much change in the situation as judged from reports of the. They claim that the work is being done by superintendents, yardmasters, and "scabs," and they think them very expensive switchmen. The men of the Pan-Handle road are all out but two. Some of the men have gone to work on the Wabash, and fourteen of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern are expected to go to work to-day. Some of the Chicago & Alton men probably go to work to-day. A few of the Grand Trunk men have gone to work. Some of the men on the Wisconsin Division of the Northwestern were reported as "weakening" again, and a committee of five was appointed to see them early this morning, and, if possible, brace them up. Some of the men are working on the Burlington and more will probably be to-day. A communication was received from the Molders' Union offering the switchmen $3.50 to $5.00 whenever they choose to apply for it. The announcement was graciously acknowledged by a vote of thanks, followed by lusty cheers. They meet to-night at the same place.

It comes with ill-grace for Mr. Conkling to say that the confirmation of Judge

THE GREAT SENSATION.

Special to the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—May 16.—There was tremendous excitement in the Senate to-day as soon as it was called to order by the Vice President, and this was caused by the reading of the resignations of Senators Conkling and Pratt, of New York. They were in the usual form and addressed to the Vice President. The resignations also stated that they had been sent to Governor Cornell. After the reception of this business which produced a profound sensation, the Senate went into executive session. At the meeting of the judiciary committee Conkling was not present. The Democrats are now in the majority.

It is also rumored that Vice President Arthur will resign, but the rumor is more than likely ill-founded. Neither Conkling nor Pratt can be found to-day. The surprise and excitement prevails in every part of the city.

ADJOURNMENT QUESTION.

Speculation Concerning An Adjournment of the Senate This Week—Robertson and Conkling.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate will meet again to-morrow, and it is confidently expected by some Senators that this week will see the end of the session. It is doubtful, however, if such good fortune will attend the country. Besides the Robertson and Chandler nominations which yet remain to be disposed of, there will, it is understood, be a number of new nominations sent to the Senate to-morrow. If there is no objection to the confirmation of Mr. Robertson beyond such as the New York Senators may make in their speeches, it will be Wednesday at least before a vote can be taken on it. A majority of the members of the commerce Committee are in favor of the confirmation of Mr. Robertson, and Mr. Conkling's friends do not expect to be able to secure an adverse report on the nomination of Mr. Robertson to the last degree. The Senator believes that he is right in his position, and so believing he will contend for the rejection of Mr. Robertson undeniably. It is not yet finally decided whether Mr. Conkling will make a speech in open Senate on the question at issue between the administration and himself or not. The friends of the Senator are inclined to the opinion that he should state his case for many reasons. Mr. Conkling has sedulously avoided any public expression of his own feelings and the arguments which move him to oppose the administration. While much has been said and written from the Senator's standpoint on the subject, there has been little that goes to the real cause of the controversy.

ANOTHER CHAPTER.

Another Story from Washington Relating to the Star Route Ring.

New York, May 15.—The Times tomorrow morning will print a long story from Washington about the star routes. It will say: "Postmaster General James has before him no easy task, but he has undertaken the work of overthrowing the star route rings and exposing their villainy with a determination to pursue it to the end. By his side stands Attorney-General McVeagh, thoroughly aroused by the enormity of the transactions under investigation, and determined to punish the guilty wherever they may be found. These gentlemen are supported by the instructions of the President, who is deeply interested in their labors, and who desires that the ulcer shall be cut to the bottom with a firm hand. The evidence which is accumulating in the hands of Mr. James' subordinates has been submitted to the attorney general, who already possesses some very interesting material for use in the courts. That evidence is preserved for use hereafter. The postmaster general has discovered since taking charge of the department that many valuable papers, which ought to be on file in the offices of the second assistant postmaster general, are missing. Among those which cannot be found are the reports made by special agents in relation to some of the routes held by the rings and manipulated for their benefit. Many of these reports severely criticized the routes and the increased and expedited service upon them, and threw much light upon the ring's methods. In most of the cases the agents retained copies of these reports, and some of these copies have recently been seen by the department. Brady completely controlled his division. No one can tell how many interesting documents he regarded as unnecessary for files."

SLIGHTLY BETTER.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Mrs. Garfield's condition at midnight is more favorable. The temperature of her body has decreased, and other symptoms indicate that the fever has been broken. She is, however, very weak, and her nervous system almost entirely exhausted. Many persons called during the day to inquire after her condition and express their sympathies for the family.

AT DEATH'S DOOR.

Archbishop Henning Again Reported Dangerously Ill and Very Weak.

MILWAUKEE, May 15.—The death of Archbishop Henning is momentarily expected, as he is again very weak. He is well known throughout the country, and the Catholics will regret his demise.

A YOUTHFUL MURDERER.

VINCENNES, Ind. May 15—At last midnight, at the Illinois gate of the Vincennes draw bridge, Joseph Reimers, watchman, while attempting to collect a five cent fare from Willie Swallow, a foot passenger, was shot through the heart by the latter, and instantly killed. Swallow is a boy of 18. Last night, he, in company with others came to the draw bridge and started over to this city to attend a circus. All paid toll but Swallow, who refused. Reimers would not allow him to pass, whereupon he walked to the Ohio & Mississippi railroad bridge, half a mile distant, and crossed over. About half-past eleven the company returned over the drawbridge, and the keeper demanded fare, with the same result. He advanced to Swallow, and as the evidence in the instant-to-day shows, struck him upon the arm with a cane, whereupon the boy drew a revolver and fired, killing Reimers instantly. The party then fled to their homes, with the exception of Swallow, who left for parts unknown. A reward of $100 has been offered for his capture, and the country is being scourred. The general opinion is that Reimers did not provoke the assault, as a cane was not found on the spot. People generally believe that Swallow wiped out an old grudge he bore against this honest, middle-aged German citizen.

Wonderful Endurance.

A story of almost incredible endurance and fortitude comes from the far West with the reports of floods and snow storms. Three men, including E.
D. N. Cooke, Superintendent of the Stage Line, started from Fort Fetter-man on the upper North Platte River,
for Rock Creek Station, on the Union Pacific Railroad, on a buckboard drawn by two powerful horses. The snow was falling fast and drifting badly, and before they reached the twenty-two mile station they had completely lost the trail, and the horses were suffered to wander about, guided by their own instinct. After a time they left the buckboard behind them and endeavored to push forward on horseback. At one point Mr. Foote was nearly killed by his horse, which fell backward into a snowdrift eight feet deep. After the horses were abandoned, and the men struggled along on foot, hands, feet and faces and feet being badly frozen. The three men had three sacks of mail and a canvass overcoat. The first man would stand on his mail-sack and throw the coat ahead of him, allowing him to take one step. Then each man would follow on, step by step, and the last man, picking up the fourth bag, would heave it ahead for the first one to step on. In this way they made something like three miles, and when the third night set in they began calling for help, and in half an hour or so were answered.
Other calls were made and they were again answered by the firing of a gun, but the wind was so strong they could not form any idea of the direction it came from. Again and again they called, and finally a light was seen, and in an hour and a half they made the last quarter of a mile, finding themselves at the stage station, twenty-five miles from the starting point. The driver had to be dragged the last quarter of a mile, and Mr. Foote says:

"When I knew that I was safe it seemed impossible for me to walk. I fell down twice in making the last few yards from the stable. I had no strength to walk, and after entering the barn I could not eat."

BRIEFLETS.

- Cool nights for sleep.

- The park pews are in demand on Sundays.

- A good many strollers and riders yesterday.

- A. B. Edwards, formerly of the Edwards house, is in the city again.

- Presiding Elder Mead preached in Afion yesterday and held quarterly meeting services.

- Dr. McCausay and wife and Rev. T. W. MacLean and wife went to the Ford fishing to day.

- J. L. Keeley will ship another car load of fine drivers and business horses to Chicago to-night.

- Two picked nines indulged in a game of base ball on the suburbs of the Madison road yesterday.

- The Beloit College boys have organized a base-ball club, and ordered a supply of liniment and court plaster.

- Elder Burnham officiated at a quiet little wedding last evening, in which the contracting parties were James D. Bates and Miss Cone, sister of Mr. E. Cone.

- Glass, the photographer, has taken some excellent views of the raging Rock when it was at its height. Those who want to have a forcible reminder of what high water mark is should get one.

- Ed. F. Welch, who has been in the west looking after the soles of the people, and the interests of Phelps, Dodge & Palmer, of Chicago, arrived home Saturday for a two weeks' stay and rest.

- Thomas Lynch, an old resident of this county, and living near Afton, died yesterday morning, at the ripe age of 81 years. The funeral services are to be held to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

- Miss Emma Rose, of Harmony, died at her home in that town yesterday, and the funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon. She was born in Milton, and had reached the age of thirty years.

- Those who heard the talk given by Rev. Olin A. Curtis last night speak very highly of it. He faithfully portrayed and carefully analyzed the character of the late Lord Beaconsfield, and pointed out its defects as a warning to others.

- Whoever dropped a letter on the street directed to Mrs. Abbey, of Northwest Park, need not hunt for it any longer, nor stay awake nights wondering what has become of it, for it has been picked up, carried to the postoffice, and sent on its journey.

- Her character had won many friends, and the news of her death will send a thrill of sorrow through many social circles here, and call forth a genuine feeling of sympathy for the household thus shadowed.

- The funeral services are to be held at the family residence to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

- The funeral services of Mrs. Joseph Ward were held yesterday afternoon in the Baptist church, and were largely attended, by friends of the deceased and family, and by a large delegation of No. 90, I. O. O. F., and of the Daughters of Rebecca. The remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery where they were laid at rest.

- On a Sunday, of a recent date, one of Janesville's young men and one of Jamesville's beautiful daughters indulged in a drive into the country, and enjoyment reigned supreme until the horse struck a relic of the late floods, and tumbled into a mire hole, tipped out the young couple into the mud and water, and made a sad wreck of the whole train. The young folk sought relief in a farm house, and a change of clothes being necessary for comfort, the family began hunting up suitable raiment. The lord of the farm house brought out one of his suits for the young man. The farmer was shaped like a balloon. There were no clothes suitable for the young lady, and the farmer went with the young man, who said his name was Smith, to a neighbor's house, and there secured for her a temporary wardrobe. Smith was recognized there, though, not as Smith, but as well, we'll spare him. He explained that the reason he gave his name as Smith was that he had got into the papers several times of late, and didn't want them to have any more jokes on him. We appreciate his feelings, and hence spare him, but if anyone spied a young couple, apparently returning from some masquerade, and driving along the back streets, with the buggy top up, and moving in a mysterious way their wonder to perform, that's them. Those who believe that special providences punish those who violate the Sabbath by indulging in pleasure drives, should cut out this touching little incident, and paste it on the dash-board.

- The organ of Trinity church was not completed as expected Saturday night, and in consequence of its material being scattered about the church no service was held yesterday morning. In the evening, however, there was service in the chapel. This week the organ will be finished, surely, and by next Sunday those who are curious to hear its new tones, will have an opportunity.

- In the Circuit Court this morning the criminal calendar was called and many of the cases were put over until the next term. It is probable that the cases of Frank Shuman and Mrs. Sullivan, charged with adultery, will go over. Main, the barber, who is charged with stabbing Collins, will be tried, and some minor cases will be tried. To-day the case of Goodwin vs. Taylor, is on trial, the parties being from Beloit.

- Thomas H. Wright and wife, of Fort Dodge, Iowa, are in the city spending a few days with his brother, C. T. Wright and family. Mr. Wright is trans-dispatched at Fort Dodge, and has had a busy winter indeed, on account of the many severe storms, and has fairly earned the needed rest which his present vacation will bring to him, and a portion of which he expects to spend at his old home in Canada.

- A Home Club entertainment is to be given at Woodstock to-morrow evening and at Harvard Wednesday evening under the management of Mrs. S. R. Noon. The programme is of an elocutionary and musical nature, and the participants are from this city, they being George M. Wills, Miss Ella L. Wills, Mrs. Jeannette B. Day, Mr. Lou Mills, Miss Lena Hills, Miss Viola Anderson, and Miss Mary Pond.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRESTICK AND EVANSON DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 63 degrees above; at 1 o'clock A. M. to-day at 52 degrees above; at 7 o'clock

- Dogs are sometimes too faithful and too willing in service. We saw such a one Saturday afternoon. Its master was trying to fish, and the dog was trying to help him. As often as the master flung out the line the dog would swim out and bring in the cork, evidently thinking that was what it was thrown out for. The dog was too faithful to be driven home, and too willing to work, to let that cork float idly on the water. That fisherman didn't get
